That is a slap in the face.

I'll show you my fast food expenses before I met you, and then after. I am spending 400% more on eating out than before I met you.

And because I have to travel so far for work now from Coos Bay, my fuel costs have quadrupled.

Beyond that. I have $1500 of receipts for your house. From the hardware store, walmart where we bought the paint, and from the Bring recycle center.

So I would not have spent all of that money, without you and your kids in my life. Not to mention cannabis. I don't ever spend this much on cannabis.

My bank itemizes it all.

And you don't have to get your power cut off. If I'm staying there, I will pay it. If I'm not staying there. Good luck. Same goes for your phone.

Grace,

Im in tears, and Im terribly sad to lose you. I feel like I never had you though. You have been telling me since I met you that you were divorced. Then about a month ago, you tell me you aren't divorced, but that you have to refile. That was the day that the JW's came.

Then you filed and a week ago when I asked you what's the status, you said "well, he has been served"..

At this point in the case, if it's not in the online records for the court, then it doesn't exist. When I filed for divorce it was online the same day, within 10 minutes of filing the paperwork.

But if he has been served, then the filing and the service would be recorded.

So that leads me to believe you have not been honest with me. Since we met.

So when I assume things, like if I assumed you weren't telling me the truth. That is why.

As for why I was upset yesterday? I have been providing dozens and dozens and dozens of meals. I was looking forward yesterday, to coming back to our first homecooked meal together.

Finally the kitchen is usable, you have food, and I had been working all day and was looking forward to your cooking.

But once again, I get no meal. I have to take care of my own needs at every level, and everyone else's needs a lot of the time too.

And it just feels awful like I feel like I was being used.

I do not want to lose you. But this looks like something we won't be able to fix.

If you want to usher me away, I will come pick up the paint, and supplies that I bought. I'll leave the stuff that I bought for the shower. But I can return about $300 worth of painting supplies and get my money back. I have that job next Monday, and I'll be in town.

I wish you would have just negotiated with me, instead of "I'm doing it, I don't care what you say"

Because all of these red flags, like about the divorce and everything.

I had good reason to be suspicious. You seem to be OK about lying to me about the small things. Why not about bigger things?

I just wanted to take you to Vegas, and I had a big surprise for you. I wanted to take you not this weekend, but next. Leaving on the 21st, and coming back on the 25th.

But my surprise had a lot to do with you being divorced. When I checked again last night, and you hadn't even filed. I felt used and lied to.

Anyway, this is tragic. Please call, hear me out for 10 minutes

If you want a relationship with me then you need to accept that I need friends and won't abandon them. My ex isolated me from all my friends and family so that he could abuse me and I'd have nowhere to turn. I will never do that again. I am not an overly social person. In fact, I'm an introvert and it's hard for me to go out but I make myself do it because it's important to have a tribe. You would be part of that tribe. You would be my #1 person and I would love and respect you and have strict boundaries with other men and not be alone with them ever. But what you did yesterday was the opposite of love and hurt me deeply. I need Mama time. I'm grieving. If you don't understand that or care to understand then you are not for me. I will be a good friend to the people who have been there for me. Again, my empathy is something you are drawn to so you can't ask me to change that. Never be abusive or belittling to me. I've been through enough and need kindness. I can move mountains for a kind man but will freeze up and put up walls to protect myself if you ever talk to me that way again. Will you accept that?

I was coming at 230pm. I was leaving Eugene to come and have dinner with you.

You said no that you had other plans

So I said I would make other plans
And then you took that as a break up
I reassured you I was not breaking up with you
But if you need autonomy and you refuse to answer to me
Then I will go do something with my time and take my autonomy back too
But I said that I would see you Monday
But you took it again as a break up, even though I assured you that it isn't
But if you are saying I'm not allowed back there this weekend
Then it is a breakup

You told me how it was going to be, regardless of what I said.

I felt I had no place in your life at that moment

And then I checked the court one more time to give you the benefit of the doubt.

And lo and behold, I found out you had lied to me our entire relationship

So I left

We aren't friends

We aren't lovers

At this point we are just former business partners

I have to go to court to get your name off my business.

I have to file a motion to dissolve a member of the business

When I do that, I will claim monetary damages for the amounts that we agreed to in that contract.

3% plus materials

Nothing more. Just that.

And you don't have to pay it now

I just want a lien put on the house so that I am assured to get the money

I depleted all of my crypto reserves to do this

Now I'm homeless and you don't give a shit

Since you don't give a shit to respect me enough to tell me the truth

Since you don't give a shit enough about me that you don't mind seeing me homeless

Now I have to defend myself Grace

You were homeless before you met me and used me for a place to live, obviously. And after how you've treated me now you will never get me back. Go fuck around. You will always be a cheater. I did not cheat. I was simply afraid and working up the courage to go. I wanted more than anything to make this work. Gave you so much love and meant all of it. I didn't hold back from loving you, and treating me this way now is just a reflection on you. Now stop messaging me. I asked you to stop. You're being cruel and unnecessarily hurtful to someone you claim to care for. This is not making amends. I guess I'm glad to know your true character now. I only ever loved you Ryan. No we have a written and a verbal contract, we spoke about it via email and text. I sent you the contract to send to Gonzolo. I can subpoena him to the case as well if you would like.

But at this point you have no platform for calling me cruel.

First you lie to me our ENTIRE relationship about 1. being divorced 2. filing again for divorce 3. about Gonzolo being served last week.

You had me hooked with all of your lies and fabrications. That is cruel and fucking disrespectful.

You want to keep shaming me for being cruel? ME CRUEL? You give no shit if I am homeless. You give no shit if I depleted my crypto funds, and worked my ass off to raise money to take care of you while we fixed the house. But not only you, but also your adult daughters and your animals, and the repairs on your house.

But now, I'm going to suffer. You are fucking cruel and disrespectful with the cutest smile Grace

It's ok. I will forward you our email back and forth about the contract. The text messages too. And I will subpoena Gonzolo so he can testify that he read the contract too.

If he or you deny it. Then I can subpoena a copy of the emails from Google. Yours, his, mine. The courts can sort it out Grace.

You don't have to be mean and cruel. You can be kind and forgiving.

But you won't. You're so fucking happy that I am suffering right now.

So that tells me we aren't friends. So be it.

Now we are just former business partners with a legal dispute. That's all we will ever be, until the dispute is over. Then we will be nothing now.

I know the way you crave pity, and you love to tell sad stories. But if you want to tell sad stories about me. I will give both sides

If you're going to go after me because I broke up with you after repeated abusive behavior then that shows your character. I only want peace. I want nothing more from you. I will pay you back for the supplies. However, you did not fix the shower. I have to get it. One because after you tore apart the insert I can't sell the house this way. So anything you want to do to me in court will be invalid. We discussed a contract and my ex never agreed to it or saw it as we began a relationship and the food and gifts were part of that relationship. The supplies will be reimbursed, of course. You have been asked not to return because of your abusive speech and harassment. I have PTSD and you were well aware of the position you were putting me in with my ex. If you insist on dragging him into court you will get me killed. You will get your money back for what you actually did. Minus the cost of someone having to fix what you tore up. You can't use a woman to live in her home and then threaten me this way. It's not okay. You're going to get me killed.

If you're going to go after me because I broke up with you

Why now are you claiming that you broke up with me? I broke up with you because of YOUR abusive behavior. Which I keep having to remind you. You lied to me for two months about being divorced to keep me interested. You knew that if I knew you were still married, I would split. I wouldn't have stuck around to help you. You're lying was deceitful and cruel. You're just upset about my reaction to it.

after repeated abusive behavior then that shows your character.

You're repeated abusive behavior. Deceiving someone for two months for your own personal gain is toxic and cruel.

However, you did not fix the shower. I have to get it.

I have been waiting for you to clean the house. Before I left, I took pictures. And I took pictures of all of the garbage that I paid to have removed.

I got injured and that has delayed me. But I'm still happy to come over Monday and fix the shower. But now you claim that I'm a stalker? Are you serious?

That is why this has to go to court.

One because after you tore apart the insert I can't sell the house this way.

Your shower caused structural damage to the floor from leaking for years, it didn't work when I got there. I filmed it and the flow of water flowing behind the insert because the tap is broken. After I took the shower out the damage to the floor was obvious and it is unsafe. You couldn't sell a house with a broken shower and all that damage to the floor. I did half the work to take it out, and purchased all of the material to put it back in. If you won't let me put it in, that is you defaulting on the contract. In the contract, I am assured access to do the repairs. But now you are denying me access.

We can let a judge decide.

Call me I have calmed down.
